

Talaan Counter: Cashier Guide

Sep 28, 2026 · @Arnold

This guide is for cashiers at Bizmaker Consultancy Inc. who issue invoices at the counter, such as the seminar registration desk. You type directly on the invoice form; the system computes VAT, discounts and totals, and the office sets prices, promotions and exchange rates.

1. Starting your shift

1. Open Talaan and sign in with your own username and password. Never use someone else's account.
2. Cashier accounts open straight into Talaan Counter. You will not see the office menus.
3. The top bar shows your branch, your name, the time your shift started, and the current Philippine Standard Time (the system always uses Manila time).

In the demo, use `cmendoza` / `Desk#2026` or `nflores` / `Counter#2026`.

The screen. On the left is the invoice exactly as it will print, with Bizmaker's seal, name, TIN and address already filled in. On the right is the payment panel: amount due, cash received, change, the checklist and the Issue invoice button.

You are signed out automatically after 15 minutes without activity. Click Sign out when you leave the desk.

2. Encoding a sale

Fill in the form from top to bottom; press Enter to move to the next field.

1. Cash or charge. Click CASH SALES or CHARGE SALES on the form. Charge sales need a named buyer; the office collects them later.
2. Buyer. In Registered Name, leave "WALK-IN CUSTOMER" for walk-ins, or start typing a name and pick a saved client from the list. For a new buyer, type the registered name, TIN (###-###-###-####) and address; it is saved when you issue.
3. Foreign buyer. If the buyer is abroad and has no Philippine TIN, click Foreign buyer (no Philippine TIN) under the TIN line and type the country instead.
4. Items. On each line, do one of these:
  - scan the barcode (workbooks, USBs and planners carry one);
  - type part of the name or SKU and press Enter on the suggestion;

- open List ▼ beside the line and choose from the list, grouped by category (Seminars, E-learning, Advisory and compliance, Publications, Merchandise)

The price, tax treatment and any promotion fill in by themselves. You cannot change a price.

5. Quantity. Type the number of participants, hours, copies or pieces, then Enter for the next line. Remove a line with **✕.
6. Currency. Leave PHP unless the client pays in foreign currency; then choose the currency beside CASH/CHARGE. Prices convert at the office's rate for today, and the peso equivalent prints on the invoice.

The VAT boxes, discounts and TOTAL AMOUNT DUE update as you type. If every item is VAT-exempt (e.g. workbooks only) or zero-rated, the form changes format by itself.

VAT class on each line. Each line shows its class next to the SKU, for example "VATable" or "VAT-exempt". It comes from the product list. If a line truly needs a different class (for example a sale to a PEZA-registered client), click Change VAT class, choose the new class and reason, enter the client's document (such as the PEZA certificate number), and have an approver choose their name and type their password. The reason prints on the line.

Buyer's email. Fill in Email in the SOLD TO box so the e-invoice can be sent. For saved clients it fills in by itself.

3. Discounts

You never type a discount. Promotions come from the office; statutory discounts need the buyer's ID.

Promotions. When the office runs one, such as the 15% early-bird seminar rate, it applies to the listed items automatically and prints as its own "Less:" line.

Statutory discounts. In the box under TOTAL AMOUNT DUE, click the buyer's type and write the details from their ID on the form:

| Buyer shows          | Click                               | Also write                                                      |
|----------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Senior citizen ID    | Senior citizen                      | ID number, name                                                 |
| PWD ID               | Person with disability              | ID number, name                                                 |
| PNSTM ID and booklet | National athlete or coach           | ID number, name; tick the ID and booklet check                  |
| Medal of Valor ID    | Medal of Valor awardee or dependent | ID number, name; choose awardee, widow or widower, or dependent |

| Buyer shows                | Click       | Also write                                                |
|----------------------------|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Solo Parent ID and booklet | Solo parent | ID number, name, child's name; tick the eligibility check |

The system applies the discount only to items the law covers. Most Bizmaker services (seminars, advisory) are not covered, so the note beside each line tells you what applied. If a promotion is bigger than the statutory discount on a line, the promotion applies instead; the buyer always gets the higher one, never both.

Meals with a senior citizen or PWD. Never change a meal's VAT class yourself; the discount does it. If the group shares the food, enter Group meal: total diners and how many are SC/PWD. The line then shows the split, for example "1 of 4 shares VAT-exempt (SC), rest VATable". If each person ordered separately, put the senior's order on its own line and untick This order is for the SC on the other lines.

Statutory discounts are for peso sales only. Have the buyer sign the invoice.

4. Payment and issuing

1. Cash sales: how the buyer paid. Choose the payment method: Cash, Check, E-wallet (GCash, Maya and others), Bank transfer or Credit or debit card. For cash, type the cash received or tap a quick amount; the change appears below it. For the others, enter the bank or provider and the reference, approval code or check number (and the check date). It prints on the invoice under Payment. Charge sales print as unpaid, with a note that payment will be acknowledged by a Collection Receipt from the office.
2. Check the list. Every line in the checklist must show a green check. A red "!" tells you what is missing: a buyer's TIN, an ID number, or enough cash.
3. Issue. Click Issue invoice or press Ctrl + Enter. The invoice takes the next number, locks, and gets its QR code.

Withholding by the client. If the client withholds tax (for example a company that will give you BIR Form 2307), the Withholding by buyer box fills in from the client's record. If the client says a different rate or amount, choose it in the box and type the reason. It can't be used for walk-in customers.

Charge sales. The payment terms and due date come from the client's record and print on the invoice (for example "Net 30 days; due date October 30, 2026"). You can't change them.

After issuing, the right panel shows the invoice number, amount, cash received and change. Then:

- Print copy for buyer if the buyer wants paper, or for walk-ins.

- Email e-invoice if the buyer has an email address on file.
- Buyer scanned the QR code when the buyer scans it with their phone; the QR opens the buyer's verification page.
- Next customer clears the form for the next sale.

If the office has turned on automatic email, the e-invoice is emailed to the buyer as soon as you issue it; you don't need to click Email.

An issued invoice cannot be changed. If something is wrong, use Request correction or void (section 5).

5. Stock, date and what needs a supervisor

Stock. For products (workbooks, USBs, planners), the item list shows how many are on hand, and each line shows the stock after this sale, e.g. "On hand 499; after this sale 496". If the note turns red, you are selling more than recorded; check with the office before handing over the goods. Services carry no stock.

Date. The invoice date is always today. Invoices must be issued on the date of the sale. If an earlier date is truly needed, for example to replace a manual invoice written during a system downtime, ask a supervisor: they enter the date and the reason, and the reason prints on the invoice.

What you can't do, and what to do instead. Click Ask supervisor in the top bar, choose the reason and add details. The request goes to the approvers in the office.

| Situation                                        | What to do                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Buyer says the price is different                | Ask supervisor: price is different                        |
| Buyer asks for a discount not on the form        | Ask supervisor: another discount                          |
| Item not in the list                             | Ask supervisor: item not in the product list              |
| Foreign-currency sale but no rate for today      | Ask supervisor: exchange rate missing                     |
| Wrong buyer, item or amount on an issued invoice | Open the invoice, click Request correction or void |
| Buyer returns goods                              | Request correction or void: customer is returning goods   |

A supervisor corrects issued invoices through a credit memo, a correction notice or a new invoice. Never write on or discard a printed invoice.

6. Reprints and end of shift

My invoices in the top bar lists invoices you issued. It opens on today; change the dates or type an invoice number or buyer name to find older ones. The top shows the totals for what is listed: number of invoices, total amount due, cash sales, charge sales and VAT. Open one to print it again or email it; the copy is marked "REPRINTED COPY" with the original date and time. You can only see invoices you issued yourself.

End of shift. Click End of shift before you leave. It shows:

- the number of invoices and their number range;
- sales in pesos, VATable, VAT, zero-rated and exempt;
- promotions and statutory discounts given;
- amounts withheld by clients;
- cash to remit, per currency, and charge sales.

Count the cash drawer against "Cash to remit" for each currency, hand the summary to your supervisor, then click End shift and sign out.

7. Getting help

- Help assistant. Type a question such as "How do I reprint an invoice?" and click Ask.
- Talk to support. Message AAA's IT support about system problems, for example a printer or screen that isn't working. Your name, branch and screen are sent with the message, and the reply appears in the same window.

For price, discount, void or return questions, use Ask supervisor in the top bar instead.

8. Quick reference

| You see                                          | It means                          | Do this                                       |
|--------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|
| Issue invoice is greyed out                      | Something in the checklist is red | Fix the red item                              |
| "Every item picked from the product list" in red | A line was typed but not chosen   | Pick it from the suggestions or List ▼ |
| "Cash received covers the amount due" in red     | Not enough cash entered           | Enter the cash received                       |

| You see                                           | It means                                            | Do this                                    |
|---------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| "P1,000 or more to a VAT-registered buyer" in red | Buyer's TIN or address missing                      | Complete them from the buyer's documents   |
| ID number or name in red                          | Statutory discount details missing                  | Copy them from the buyer's ID              |
| Stock note in red                                 | Selling more than recorded                          | Check with the office first                |
| "Sale discount applied instead" beside a line     | The promotion is higher than the statutory discount | Nothing; it is correct                     |
| "Charge sale needs a named buyer"                 | Walk-in on a charge sale                            | Enter the client's name, or switch to cash |

Three rules. Issue the invoice at the time of the sale, and record how the buyer paid. Never share your password. When in doubt, ask a supervisor rather than guess.
